

Bio Sketch: Pamela Allweiss, MD, MSPH

Dr. Allweiss is an Endocrinologist who completed her fellowship in Endocrinology at Cedars Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles and was the chief clinical fellow at the Joslin Clinic in Boston. She received a Masters of Science in Public Health while completing a residency in Preventive Medicine and Occupational Health at the University of Kentucky.

She has been a consultant to the CDC Division of Diabetes Translation (DDT) since 1999, working on projects for the National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP), a joint CDC and NIH program. These projects have included: worksite wellness initiatives and PPOD Workgroup (Podiatry, Pharmacy, Optometry, and Dental) materials. CDC Business Team, and diabetes subject matter expert for CDC's Emergency Preparedness program (including man-made and natural disasters). She is also on the faculty of the University of Kentucky Medical School.